Armchair Nation: An intimate history of Britain in front of the TV by Joe Moran " review. Moran wonders. And so the task he sets himself, a notably existential one, is to examine the ways in which our viewing habits have shaped our identity, individually and as a nation, in the last 80 years or so. It is a big subject to view through the prism of Rising Damp and Sale of the Century, but if anyone can pull it off, Joe Moran can.
