Afferent neurons' somas are located in the ganglia of the peripheral nervous system, and the axons of these cells travel from ganglion to ganglion and lead back to the spinal cord. The majority of these are unipolar neurons in that they have a single axon leaving the cell body and is sent towards the sensory organ. All of the axons in the dorsal root, which contains afferent nerve fibers, are ...

2.1 Definitions Attenuation The reduction in optical power as it passes along a fiber, usually expressed in decibels (dB). See optical loss. Attenuation The optical loss of fiber per unit Coefficient length, expressed in db/km. Backscattering The scattering of light in a fiber back toward the source, used to

A Recommendation On Cabling Selection Today, we're seeing premises cabling, designed to carry gigabit and 10 gigabit traffic with 850 nm VCSEL transmitters, moving toward standardization on 50/125 laser-optimized fiber (now universally called OM3 or OM4 for the two grades of available standardized fiber) with LC connectors to match the manufacturers' standard for VCSEL transceivers.

SUMMARY: In this article, the underlying theory of clinical diffusion MR imaging, including diffusion tensor imaging (DTI) and fiber tractography, is reviewed. First, a brief explanation of the basic physics of diffusion-weighted imaging (DWI) and apparent diffusion coefficient (ADC) mapping is provided. This is followed by an overview of the additional information that can be derived from the ...

Skeletal muscle is one of three major muscle types, the others being cardiac muscle and smooth muscle. It is a form of striated muscle tissue, which is under the voluntary control of the somatic nervous system. Most skeletal muscles are attached to bones by bundles of collagen fibers known as tendons.. A skeletal muscle refers to multiple bundles of cells joined together called muscle fibers.

The Romans must have been particularly pleased with themselves the day they invented lead pipes around 2000 years ago. At last, they had an easy way to carry their water from one place to another. Imagine what they'd make of modern fiber-optic cablesâ€”"pipes" that can carry telephone calls and emails right around the world in a seventh of a second!

Dietary fiber inclusion in pig diets also has been used extensively to reduce ammonia emission. The addition of NSP from soybean hulls and/or sugar beet pulp (SBP) in pig diets reduces the urinary N excretion ratio and, thereby, ammonia emission (Mroz et al., 2000, Beccacia et al., 2015). In this respect, Beccacia et al. (2015) compared a control diet with a diet supplemented with 150 g/kg of ...
